 - The Wind blows hard with a frown.
 - The man holds his coat tightly when the Sun shines.
 - A smile is the strongest thing.
 - The Sun frowns and shines more brightly.
- What does the Wind say to the Sun on seeing the man walking down the road?
- What does the man say to himself about the Wind?

WRITE

(Creating)

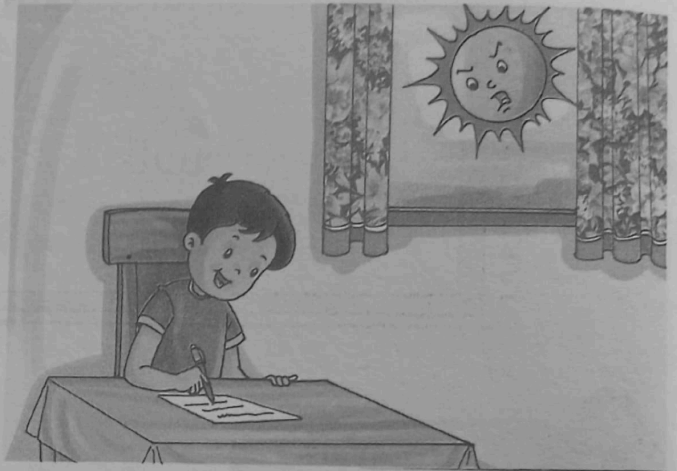

You are getting bored at home and you want to play in the park. But it is very hot outside. You look at the Sun. It seems, he is very angry. Write a letter to the Sun telling him not to be angry. Also, tell him that the heat of the Sun is too much. You may even fall sick. Ask politely that he may smile and shine softly so that the heat is less.

Dear Sun

Hope you are fine. I know you are very angry. That is why, you are shining so brightly. But you should think of us also. I am getting bored at home but cannot go out of play outside with my friends because it is very hot. If you will be angry, the heat will be too much then I may even fall sick. Do you want so? I know you never want it so, I request you to smile and shine softly so that the children can come out and play.

Yours affectionately

Rohan
